A Pure Article.
The late Sir John Macdonald once gave orders to the leading Ottawa paper that his speeches were to be reported verbatim, as he prided himself on the perfection of his extempore style. But on one occasion, when he spoke after dining generously, the reporter's notes turned out so incoherent that the editor took fright and sent the young man to get Sir John's own revision of his remarks. That statesman gravely corrected the reporter's literal transcript of what he had said and as gravely said to him on taking leave: "Young man, let me give you a piece of advice, of which I fear you stand in need. Never touch liquor."—San Francisco Argonaut.

When you have a sick horse you do not hitch him up to a sulky and take him to the race track for a little healthful spin. You doctor him. You cannot work or recreate a man into good health any more than you can a horse. Bicycling will make healthy men more healthy; it will make unhealthy men more unhealthy. When a man has been living in too big a hurry, when he has worked himself out, when he has got so that he does not sleep or eat, or rest, and the whole world looks gloomy to him, it is time for him to take medicine. Then, when he is braced up a bit, it is time enough for him to take to the bicycle.

When a man's nerves have an edge on them, so that the least little disappointment raps on his temper like a fly, when his stomach and liver and nerves are deranged, and he is continually gloomy and melancholy, he should take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes a man as hungry as a fisherman and sees to it that all the vital elements of the food are absorbed into the blood. It braces up the liver and puts it to work in the right way. It drives all bilious impurities from the system. It fills flesh, nerves, brain cells, sinews and bones with the life-giving elements of rich, red, pure blood. It makes a man healthy and then a bicycle will make him strong. Medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing "just as good."

Through your skillful treatment I am once more a well man," writes J. N. Arnold, Esq., of Gandy, Logan Co., Neb. "I suffered for years with constipation and torpidity of the liver, irritation of the prostate and inflammation of the bladder. I took six bottles of Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' and am permanently cured. You have been the means of saving my life."

It Was a Great Shot.
There is a man who when the stars are out above rigs up a telescope at the corner of a certain street in S—, wherewith to study astronomy at sixpence a squint. One night as he was getting under way two Irish "gentlemen" were seen to be taking an observation of his movements.

"Jemmy," said one, "what in the wurld is you fellow after with this machinery?"

"What ye spalpeen," whispered the other, "shure an can't ye see that it's an airgun cannon he's got? He's after shootin' stars, he is."

"Hadn't we better be gittin' out iv the way thin?" inquired his friend.

"Shure an it's no use," was the answer. "Didn't ye ever hear of shootin' stars?"

By this time the telescope man had arranged his instrument and squinted through it up at the heavens. The Irishmen, looked likewise in wonder. Just then, by an odd chance, a large meteor shot down the sky.

"Bedad, he hit it! He's fetched it down!" cried both Irishmen in a breath. "Shure an that's the greatest shootin' I iver saw in my life!"—London Telegraph.

Rough on the Reporter.
The late Sir John Macdonald once gave orders to the leading Ottawa paper that his speeches were to be reported verbatim, as he prided himself on the perfection of his extempore style. But on one occasion, when he spoke after dining generously, the reporter's notes turned out so incoherent that the editor took fright and sent the young man to get Sir John's own revision of his remarks. That statesman gravely corrected the reporter's literal transcript of what he had said and as gravely said to him on taking leave: "Young man, let me give you a piece of advice, of which I fear you stand in need. Never touch liquor."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Escaped It.
"What is it? An amateur concert?" "Yes, but it is to be given by the best talent in the neighborhood, and it's for charity."

"How much are the tickets?" "Fifty cents. You ought to buy a couple of them and go."

"I think I'd rather buy four of them and not go. Here's your money."—Chicago Tribune.

One Child For Each Hour.
Henry Bloch, a business man of Brooklyn, eats breakfast at half past nine, goes to breakfast at 15 minutes to Gabriel and retires for the night at Achilles. Mr. Bloch has 12 children, 9 girls and 3 boys. He is fond of his family and in order that he might always have them in mind had a watch made with the miniature photograph of one of the children in the place of each of the hours on its dial. Thus where the figure 7 would be on an ordinary watch dial the pretty face of his daughter Rosie looks out. The face of the boy Gabriel represents 1 o'clock, that of Freda 2 o'clock and so on around the dial. At his home Mr. Bloch has a large clock, on the dial of which the figures are represented in the same way.

The Deacon and the Prayer.
"I didn't like your prayer very much this morning," said a fault finding deacon to his minister.

"What was wrong with it?" "Well, in the first place, it was too long, and then I thought it contained two or three expressions that were unwarranted."

"I am very sorry it meets with your disapproval, deacon," the good man responded, "but you must bear in mind that the prayer was not addressed to you."—Ohio State Journal.

What a busy world this would be if it only were as fascinating to beat a carpet as it is to beat a slot machine.—Detroit Journal.

When Coal Gives Out.

The Adirondack region abounds with streams, most of which can some time be made use of as sources of power for carrying on industries, running railroads and furnishing light and heat. Indeed, the great problem at present is not at all to find available heads of water, but to devise means of transmitting the power with the minimum loss for long distances.

It is impossible to believe that with the success of existing plants and the spectacle of practically unlimited power going to waste on every hand, to stimulate inventive genius, methods will not be devised before very long for overcoming this difficulty of transmission.

Whether it is by the discovery of some new conveyor or by using a succession of generating plants or by a process of storing the electricity and conveying it by freight or express or however, the new power is bound in time to come into practically universal use. If the difficulty of transmission is never wholly obvious, it may be there will be some regrouping of industries and communities in the near vicinity of important sources of water supply.—Guntton's Magazine.

The Cause of It.

A reflection not altogether without value to such feminine scribes as have not yet found their public is contained in a remark made at a recent dinner in London, where 200 literary women met one another. Says the London Outlook:

As the extremely well dressed crowd surged and swayed round the platform after the recitation which followed the dinner a young woman ventured to remark to one of the "old hands" upon the exceedingly prosperous appearance of several of the literary women.

"Bless you," was the quick response, "that is not literature—it is husbands!"

Things to Remember.

Never forget that women are made out of girls and that men are made out of boys; that if you are a worthless girl you are a worthless woman, and if you are a worthless boy you will be a worthless man, and the best educated men and women once did not know "A, B, C" that all the things which you are learning had to be learned by them; that the efforts spent in making others happy will in some way add to your own happiness; that a life of usefulness and helpfulness is worth many times more than a life of pleasure.

Not Amusement.

"I am willing to do almost anything for amusement," panted the portly member of the Tourists' club, who had dragged himself half way up the mountain side and stopped to rest, "but this is a little too much."

"This isn't amusement," explained one of the other members of the club. "This is sport."—Chicago Tribune.

Those Loving Girls.

Helen—See my new engagement ring. Don't you think George has good taste? Mattie—He certainly has—in the selection of a ring.—Chicago Record.

Vulgar Trade.

She shuddered and averted her face. "To marry for money," she protested. "Is to sell oneself, and I can't see why it isn't just as bad to sell oneself as it is to sell dry goods or groceries. Trade is trade."

She was a candid girl and scorned the subtle artifices of logic whereby some are wont to still the voice of conscience.—Detroit Journal.

As to Feathering Nests.

"My experience," said the reformed confidence man who had played the races frequently in his day, "is that it is hard to pick the winner, but comparatively easy to pluck him."—Chicago Tribune.

HIS HEAD LIKES THE HEAT.

But the Negro Always Tries to Keep His Head Cool.

It has often been said that the capacity of the negro race for enduring heat has never been fully tested. An incident related by a dairyman living on the outskirts of the city seems to bear out this assertion.

This dairyman has a young negro boy who looks after the cattle, and does chores around the place. The only effect that the heat produces in his case is a desire to slumber. The dairyman had a young calf in the barnyard, and as the sun was pouring in on the poor animal his wife sent "Carline" out to turn the calf loose, so that he could seek a shady spot. After waiting an hour for his return the housewife went to the barnyard to investigate. There she found both boy and calf curled up in the hot and stifling barnyard. The calf was dead from the effects of the sun, but the boy was slumbering peacefully by its side.

While a negro can stand any amount of heat on his head he loves to cool his heels. It is a common sight in the winter to see a negro boy on a frosty morning with his head bundled up to keep out the cold and at the same time walking unconcernedly along the frosty ground in his bare feet. One of the hottest places in the city on a hot day is at the lumber wharfs of the Florida Central and Peninsular railroad. When the men knock off for noon, they frequently take a nap with their faces upturned to the rays of the blazing sun. At the same time they get their feet under the shadow of some friendly lumber pile.—Florida Times-Union.

They Saw the Point.

An American farmer near Guadalajara convinced his Mexican neighbors that oxen can do more work under American yokes, so generally used in the republic. The American brought several modern yokes from the United States and used them with success. The curiosity of his Mexican friends was aroused, and they proceeded to ask questions.

"Well," said the American, "when you lasso a steer and the lasso gets around his neck what do you do?"

"Turn him loose," was the reply.

"Why?"

"Because he's too strong for us that way."

"That's it," answered the American. "His strength is in his neck, not in his horns."

The Mexicans saw the point, and now yokes of United States manufacture are generally used in that neighborhood.—Modern Mexico.

The Bishop's Label.

Bishop Huntington once went down to a town in Connecticut to perform a marriage ceremony. He arrived the day before the wedding, and he left at the same time the bridal pair did, although he was driven to a different railway station. As he passed through the station, carrying his traveling bag, he was aware that he was creating a sensation, but was totally at a loss to account for it. In the car he found that he was still the object of amused attention. The porter, positively snickered as he passed his seat, and finally just as the train drew out he came up and assisted the churchman to remove his overcoat.

"What is the matter with you, my man?" asked the bishop. The porter's snicker broadened into a laugh. "Ain't you done lef' the lady, sah?" he chuckled.

"Eh?" exclaimed the bishop in surprise. Then his eye fell on the side of his traveling bag which the porter had just turned round. There glued to it was a wide strip of white satin ribbon on which was painted in large letters: "Married this morning."

The facetiously minded best man had mistaken the bishop's traveling bag for that of the bridegroom, and a chuckling black porter worked late into the night removing that ribbon.—Washington Post.

HAVE WE DEGENERATED?

Are we degenerating from that grand manhood so pronounced in our ancestors? When a survey of the past, as it is given to us through the records made that constitute history, it seems very much as though we were losing some of the ancient will power possessed by those from whom we have descended.

The first real manifestation of weakness was given when Cleveland was second time President. It had been, without question, as established by the happenings then and since then, arranged that the Democratic party should be taken into the gold camp, and that it had been concluded that Cleveland, from his well known character, was the man to do the work for the money power in a way that would call into operation his bull-dozing disposition; or, in other words, it was intended to humiliate the Democracy by either conquering the will power of the party or by dividing it in a way that its future power as a national political factor would cease until the money power had succeeded in establishing its power in a way that no efforts to dislodge it would be successful.

Cleveland bull-dozed a United States congress and brow-beat its members till he succeeded in part in carrying into effect the purpose, the accomplishment of which was given to him in charge in consideration of his election by the organized money interests of the country.

The methods of Cleveland were largely upon the line followed by Jeffreys during the reign of James II of England, who claimed he did do all that was done by him in obedience to the commands of his master, the King. Cleveland did do all that was done by him in obedience to the commands of his master, the money power. To do the will of his master was the requirement made to place the country in a condition that the money power could control it and its government in the future, financially and politically.

How well he carried the scheme into effect the record of his administration and the political facts and relations that followed will continue to furnish evidence to future generations. The weakness of congress and of its individual members surpassed anything that has appeared in the history of legislative bodies since the race has become self governing.

The liberties of the people, when given to the protection of like bodies, are in hands that will give them away at the command of a bull-dozer, which is the true character of the money power that is controlling the country, and will dispose of the liberties of the people to suit its convenience and purpose, which convenience is to control and enslave the people.

If a congress possessed of the manhood that was so prominent during the Revolution and at the time the foundations of our grand government system were laid Cleveland would have been impeached for a usurpation of legislative functions by duress, but the men who were in the first congress during Cleveland's second administration submitted to the will of the President—many of them in consideration of patronage received. The methods of the money power were used by the executive and the weak and compliant members that represented the people and had in their possession the people's future were bought in consideration of patronage bestowed by a representative of the money power, and that representative no less a personage than the head of a great nation.

We direct the attention of the people to these matters that they may in some measure understand the nature of the foe that they must in the future meet till it is overthrown as overthrown it must be if the liberty that is remaining to us is secured to our descendants. We direct the attention of the people to these matters that they may in some measure understand the nature of the foe that they must in the future meet till it is defeated.

President McKinley is not a bull-dozer in any form because he could not be as he is by nature timid, or cunning, perhaps the latter, and the reason for our opinion in this particular, has its origin in the refusal by him to accept a policy individual in its make-up when it was tendered to him by the money power. It is evident that he did not have the courage to accept, or it may be he was prohibited from accepting the policy offered, as it may have been intended as a feeler of the pulse of the Republican party upon the subject of a personal policy upon the part of the President which latter intention has in it a necessity that no mistake be made, and because of the necessity it is reasonable to conclude that was the real intention, as the money power is dependent upon the Republican party for a support in its work to establish a money-ocracy in the country, whose object is to control and enslave it.

SOUTH AFRICAN WAR.

Some hard fighting is again reported in Natal, South Africa, between the British and the Boers. Lord Methuen, commanding general, reports a battle with the Boers at Belmont, a place about sixty miles from Kimberly, to which place the British were marching to relieve the British forces that have been cooped up by the Boers since the beginning of the war. A British victory is reported, with a heavy loss for the number engaged. The Boer loss is reported to be heavy, but their numbers in killed and wounded are not given.

From late reports the Boer general commanding the Boer forces has out-generaled the British by cutting the British advance into three divisions, which are now isolated from each other by the Boer forces.

THE country is again informed that Aguinaldo has escaped from our forces in Luzon. Aguinaldo appears to be a fox in his methods when he intends to get away. He knows the hills and mountains of Luzon better than our officers and when they conclude that he is surrounded they find they only encompassed so much space as the fox has escaped to another hiding place. There was fighting at Iloilo on the island of Passay on the 18th instant. Our forces were taking the rebel trenches and driving the rebels before them at all points. The people believe the negroes are cannibals and the women and children are frightened.

THERE has been a lot of tommy-rot in the Nevada and California papers the last day or two to the effect that the Nevada world's fair commissioners had made a deal whereby our exhibit was to be credited to our neighbor to the west. Bosh!

Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. ## ARTESIAN WATER IN SIERRA VALLEY

Apparently no Limit to the Supply—
Large Number of Wells Bored.

Sierra valley is an ideal place for obtaining artesian water. The configuration of the country is perfect. The valley is an oval with high hills rising on all sides with the exception of the narrow outlet of the Feather river. As the snow melts from these hills the water sinks to the impervious stratum and follows that to the lower end of the valley, being under great pressure at the point of exit, where it swells the little stream that farther down is the broad and madly rushing river.

By piercing the gravel which carries this water and lies under the blue clay, a flowing well can be obtained at comparatively little depth, almost anywhere in the valley.

There are between three hundred and four hundred artesian wells in Sierra valley, some of the larger ranches having as many as six or eight.

In some of the wells the water is pure and ice cold, in others it is tepid and in still others hot enough to scald the hand or even boil an egg.

This high temperature is doubtless caused either by the great pressure or by the water slacking bodies of mineral that lie on the bedrock. Many of the hot wells flow highly impregnated waters, the principal ingredients being soda, lime, sulphur and magnesia.

In these wells the water does not merely rise to the surface but often spouts some distance into the air. It can thus be utilized for filling troughs for stock.

Near Vinton is a well, the water from which is piped 250 feet to a tank along the S. V. R. R. The outlet of the pipe is fourteen feet above the surface of the well.

There is no danger of exhausting the source of supply, apparently. The sinking of new wells never decreases the output of those previously bored.

MINES AND MINING

IN THIS STATE

News of Nevada's Leading Industry
Clipped From Sagebrush
Exchanges.

A cyanide plant will be put in at Stateline.

The Leviathan copper mine has been bonded to San Francisco parties, who have agreed to expend from fifteen to twenty-five thousand dollars in the next year.

Work at the great Delamar lode continues about the same, every month about 9,000 tons are mined and milled. The prospecting on the lower levels shows no decrease in size of the ore bodies and very little depreciation in values.

Did Not Buy It.

An item has been going the rounds of the State press to the effect that the Washoe County Bank and the First National Bank at Winnemucca have purchased the Lovelock Commercial Company's store.

O. T. Bender of the Washoe County Bank denies this statement. Robert O. Moore has severed his connection with this bank and leaves for Lovelock December 1st to manage the store.

In Full Blast.

The smelter at the Reno reduction works is trotting right along at a 210 gait, making good money for its owners. With the exception of a few hours when the fires were banked on account of delay in arrival of coke, the drawing off of bullion has been as regular as clockwork.

Two dry batteries of five stamps each are also pounding away on free milling Oresana rock.

Play Postponed.

The benefit performance planned by the Reno Dramatic Club will not be given until some time in February. There are so many attractions coming to Reno in the next couple of months that the club cannot secure the theatre.

Lessee Piper, with his usual generosity, will donate the house to the club when his attractions are not coming so thick and fast.

Horse on Fire.

"Got a good joke on myself," said the man who has accumulated a little property by hard work. "I asked my wife what was the difference between me and a horse, intending to say that I was a forehanded man and the horse was a four-footed beast. What do you suppose she said?" "Give it up," said the other man. "Said she guessed it must be the length of my ears."—Indianapolis Journal.

Like His Father.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "the baby is trying to talk again. It's wonderful how he takes after you!" "What was he talking about?" "I think it must have been politics. He started very calmly, but in a few minutes he was as angry and red in the face as he could be."—Washington Star.

ONE MORE

Wearry of Breath,

Rashly Importunate, Gone to His Death.

"Only forty cents left! I am at the end of my string! Now for the leap into the dark!"

These were the thoughts of Charles Stewart as he swallowed the fatal draught and powder yesterday and lay down to take his last sleep.

At 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning a well dressed young man entered the office of the Grand Central hotel and inscribed his name and address upon the register: Charles Stewart, Ohio go. The sleepy clerk at this early hour did not notice anything unusual in his appearance but the handwriting is nervous and quivering.

A bystander said as the guest was shown to his room: "Why that's Charlie Scott of Oakland."

Twelve hours later the chambermaid reported to Night Clerk Peppers that the occupant of room 25 had not yet arisen.

Mr. Pepper, rapped at the door but received no response. The door was then broken in and the rigid form of the guest was seen lying on the bed
with set, staring eyes.

On a table by the bedside was an empty two-dramm laudanum vial and a five-grain box of sulphate of morphia with but one powder remaining.

Two physicians were summoned but their efforts were unavailing. He could not be brought to consciousness.
A permit was secured and he was taken to the County hospital.

Later last night he was still living
but beyond medical aid.

Thursday night Stewart, or Scott, displayed a little box like the one found empty by his side and said to some companions in the Klondyke saloon, "This is what will take me soon."

Later—He died at 1:40 A. M.

There is great interest already being taken in the ball that will be given Thanksgiving evening in the pavilion,
under the auspices of Monumental strictly a masquerade ball, and all are expected to wear costumes. Masks will be removed at 10:30.

Prizes will be given for the best character personifications. They are now being exhibited in the windows of
W. G. Doane and Herz Bros.

To Quiet Title.

It is reported that an action will soon be begun by Dr. Redman to quiet title to some claims he recently located near Verdi. The claims are on land formerly owned by the railroad company and afterwards sold to R. L. Falton and others of this city. The mineral claimed is kaolin.

THE COMMISSIONERS
AND THE EXHIBIT

Carson News Says Appeal Found a Mare's Nest in Jumping Maxson.

Work is progressing rapidly on the Nevada exhibit for the Paris exposition, and many cases of minerals are arriving each day. Commissioner Yerlington is busy opening and classifying
them, says the News.

The collection thus far comprises over 5,000 specimens and half are not yet in. Among these are every known mineral and it will be the most wonderful collection on exhibition
from any State.

The Government officials have written Mr. Yerlington kindly thanking him for his work in view of the fact that the State he will represent is bearing no part of the expense and is the only one that did not make an appropriation.

The Appeal found a mare's nest this morning in publishing an item to the effect that it was alleged that Colonel Maxson, a member of the State Board,
was in with the California commission and that the Nevada minerals would be used in the California collection.
There is nothing in it, for, in the first place, Mr. Maxson does not receipt for or care for the specimens. All that work is done by Mr. Yerlington in this city.

The Southern Pacific railroad company deserves great credit for the fact that Nevada will have an exhibit at all,
for it was this corporation that stepped in and is now paying the expenses of the Nevada commission, that no part of the territory through which its road passes may be unrepresented.

In return the Nevada commissioners are giving what aid they can to the railroad company in collecting specimens from Inyo, which of course will be placed with the California exhibit,
from which state they are taken.

The whole thing is regrettable, when Mr. Yerlington and his associates are doing all in their power to make an excellent showing from this State, and its effect may be to stop the sending in of specimens. It is not true and it is to be hoped that it will not result in injuring the State's showing.

Announcement.

I have just received a complete line of working and dress shirts of the latest patterns and styles, which I will sell best working shirt that was ever sold on the Coast for the money. Call and examine the same.

I have all the latest patterns in golf and negligee shirts, in silks and madras clothes.

I am pleased to announce that I have secured the agency of the Wheeler

the best fitting and most durable overall on the market. It is rivited, triple-sewed and made of the heaviest and best denim. Try a pair and be convinced.

ALFRED NELSON.

Would Not Suffer so Again for Fifty Times Its Price.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price.—G. H. WILSON, Liverman, Burgettstown, Washington
Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale by W.
Pinniger.

Deal Will be Made.

Mr. Parrie, the chief mover in the proposition to purchase a group of claims in Ollughouse canyon, dropped dead at his home in Colorado several days ago.

This was thought to put an end to the deal; but Col. Lowe, who is arranging the transfer, was in town talking with local holders of the properties under bond. He expressed the opinion that the deal would yet be made. Under the bond the money must be paid by the first of December.

Protected Against Loss.

Secretary Bevier of the State Agricultural Society received yesterday
the policies for an insurance of $25,000 on the pavilion and race track buildings.

The success of the last fair warranted
the President and executive committee to make this expenditure. This property has not been insured for the past two or three years.

SOME RELICS OF THE PHILIPPINE WAR

Sergeant John Kieffer Brings a Box
Full of Trinkets From Manila.

A JOURNAL reporter visited the Kieffer residence on Vine street yesterday, where he was shown a chestful of trinkets brought from the Philippines.
They were collected by Sergeant Kieffer during his service abroad in the Nevada troop.

It would take too long to itemize the collection, as there are hundreds of interesting trinkets and relics in this box of curios. Mrs. Kieffer, mother of the soldier, took a pardonable pride in displaying the articles.

The first shown was a box of shells
of every hue and shape—not the shells of warfare, but those picked up on the shore of Luzon.

Next comes the death dealing shells that are used in the Krag-Jorgensen of our boys and the Mausers of the enemy. In this category may be included the assortment of bullets picked up on the battle-fields.

Some examples of the handiwork of the Tagalo and Filipino were shown.
They consisted of shoes, or, rather,
sandals of the natives; miniature canoes with outriggers, combs with wooden teeth, drinking cup and samples of Philippine embroidery, this last being of rich material, skillfully and painstakingly worked.

Among the gifts brought for his parents and other near relatives were canes of the native woods and a beautifully chased gold ring.

Case Compromised.

A compromise was arrived at yesterday in the suit of the Reno Water, Land and Light company against Mrs.
M. A. Wellman. The defendant transferred to this plaintiff a tract of land which was the subject of the litigation.
